Overview

Social Security is a part of everyone's life. With the expected wave of "Baby Boomers" reaching retirement age, and employers providing financial planning information to workers nearing retirement age, Social Security information and speakers are a welcome resource.

Robert Fenn is from the SSA and he will introduce Social Security's Online Services for HR and legal professionals, which will provide a wealth of knowledge that will help both the work place and its employees. He will also introduce SSA's Appointed Representative webpage, a tool that will help with employee referrals, benefit/ appeals and general information about Social Security Services.

The session will include an overview of benefits available and online tools Social Security has available.

1.0 hours CLE credit approved for all lawyers.
